Playing the markets can be exciting, but not when your retirement savings are at stake.

Let's face it. We all want to see our investments soar. But at what risk? In the years leading up to retirement, our risk tolerance declines because we want to protect the wealth we've worked so hard to accumulate. Wouldn't it be nice to benefit from market gains while having the principal of the investment protected should the markets decline?

It is possible – with RBC Guaranteed Investment Funds
